1. The 95th Air Technical Division is commanded by a colonel, whose offices are housed in No. 3 Roosevelt Strasse in Wittenberg. It is subordinate to the Southern Fighter Corps.
2. The 95th Air Technical Division is dependent upon other airforce units within the corps area, which are apparently subordinate to it, for some types of supplies and spare parts, e.g., there is a work-shop unit in Jüterbog, Altes Lager, commanded by Major Kamarov which has carried out aircraft repairs for some of the corps aircraft. This unit is known to be subordinate to the 95th Air Technical Division. The Kech officer, Kurochkin, at Altes Lager supplied the 95th Air Technical Division with ball bearings. There is no direct evidence that this Kech is subordinate to Wittenberg. Another airforce unit at Jüterbog, commanded by a Captain Butorin, has been supplying the 95th Air Technical Division with aircraft parts.
